Hello, I am a supporter of the Notmilkman because I have developed numerous food allergies in the last 10 years and can no longer consume anything remotely close to milk including whey, lactose or any derivative. I am horrified at what I just read in this newsletter that my Government is selling my health down the tubes and not requiring truth in labeling. I demand that any artificial product or genetically engineered foods have the proper labels saying exactly what is in it. I get horrible headaches when I eat something I can't have and this thought of not telling the American Consumer we're eating genetically engineered food is ridiculous. But of course with Bill Clinton as our President I should not be surprised that the whole country is going down the drain, this is just another example of it. If you have enough money, you can be bought. I am furious, I am disgusted with our country and manufacturer's. Your going to force me to start my own food chain so I know its pure. I am tired of being sick and you want to make me sicker. where is the decency and concern for your fellow consumer and neighbor? Your out of business right now. The Notmilkman is right on target because I have experienced the effects of growth hormones in our milk and i see our grandkids developing way too fast. Wake up, this is your children too.

sincerely, Elena
